

News

Quoted, Think before you tweet: The potential legal pitfalls of hospitals' social media use

October 12, 2017

Matthew D. Jenkins and Mark S. Hedberg speak to Law Review about best practices for health care organizations to make use of social media while still ensuring compliance with privacy laws such as the Health Information Portability and Accountability Act (HIPPA). Jenkins and Hedberg further explain common misconceptions about protected health information (PHI). They explain that, “Many providers mistakenly believe that if a patient shares some aspect of their protected health information (PHI) on social media, then the PHI is no longer protected under the HIPPA.”

Think before you tweet: The potential legal pitfalls of hospital's social media use, Law Review, October 12, 2017.

Related People

Matthew D. Jenkins

Partner

+1 804 788 8736

mjenkins@hunton.com

Mark S. Hedberg

Partner

+1 804 788 8314

mhedberg@hunton.com

Media Contact

Lisa Franz

Director of Public Relations

Jeremy Heallen

Public Relations Senior Manager

mediarelations@Hunton.com

These materials have been prepared for informational purposes only and are not legal advice. This information is not intended to create an attorney-client or similar relationship. Case results do not guarantee or predict a similar result in any future case. Unless otherwise noted, attorneys not certified by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization. Hunton Andrews Kurth LLP is a Virginia limited liability partnership. Attorney Advertising.